

Tourist with blue eyes

_Guide of interesting things in Obdach Day 1

I am an Erasmus student. During one of my courses, while I am staying in Graz, we visited Obdach. Little town, which I have not know before. Because I am a foreigner I should have an unbiased view. That is why my project say about things a foreigner might find beautiful in this place and some little observations. I walked around for two days. This is day number one

_Meeting point: Fountain - town centre 1

The square, place for meeting people. It is beautiful, medieval, but why all these cars?

There are some beautiful chapels out here. People should do something about it

They might do a summer cinema right here

A place for new shop? On the main station, there is now nothing, it is near the centre, so it might improve both things

Another chapel, another feeling, value of this one is a bit different. Just go there and be there for a while and you will see

Nice alley. Just sitting in the shades of trees and enjoying the view of free landscape in front of me. They might also use it as a metaphor for embracing city

Beautiful landscape around the city

These windows are great and they are a part of the special identity of the place. We do not have such ones in my country

_Meeting point: Artificial lake near the castle 1

Second day I have seen some nice places for resting near water

Another chapel valuable chapel. 19th century? Shame it is in such a condition

The feeling of going through the gate to the city is just great.

This castle might be a spot for tourist with mixed function. The place has a nice atmosphere. If it would be used in such some trees from the nearby forest must go down, so that it will be visible from Obdach

Ouch, I have never seen such a fence before. It is great. Another identity spot

The scenes of small open farm life can be interesting for families with small children

Church and its surrounding. It has a history why not to show it and talk about it

This old chapel house, when was it erected, why are people buried in this way. It is interesting for a tourist
